WHY IS THIS COFFEEHOUSE DIFFERENT FROM ALL OTHER COFFEEHOUSES?

- It stresses informal, open and honest (hopefully?) discussion.
- It will be restricted, because of space limitations, to a fairly small group (so plan to get there early if you definitely want to hear someone).
- It's got a really outasight group of speakers.

WHO ARE THESE SPEAKERS AND WHAT ARE THEY GOING TO TALK ABOUT?

I.F. STONE is known to almost everyone in the Washington area. He's going to talk with us about the Middle East conflicts.

BRINT DILLINGHAM is a Washington-area activist who recently ran for sheriff in Montgomery County on a ticket of freeing all political prisoners and negotiating a separate Montgomery County truce with the Viet Cong. He scared the hell out of everyone (including himself) when he got 10,000 votes. He'll talk about the Panthers, the People's Constitutional Convention and violence.

RENNIE DAVIS is also known to everyone.

URI DAVIS is an Israeli draft resister who will be in the U.S. for a few weeks.

Karl Hess is the former speech-writer for Goldwater turned good guy who will talk about the police state, 1933-1970.

CHARLOTTE BUNCH-WEEKS is active in Women's Liberation and will talk about her recent trip to Hanoi.

DAVE IFSHIN is the current president of the National Student Association and will talk about what's happening on the campuses.

RICK MARGOLIES is pretty heavily into communes and collectives and will talk about some of the problems as well as the differences they're facing.

MORRIS SCHAPPES is a historian and the editor of the radical Jewish Currents who has been struggling for many of the same things many of us have been struggling for (for many years). He will give a special presentation called "Jewish Radicalism in the U.S.A.---Past and Present (1800- Now)".

GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVE. All we can say at this point is that a prominent person from the Israeli government will come in his or her shirtsleeves to talk with us.

MARIETTE WICKS is active in Women's Liberation and will be glad to rap after she shows her multi-media presentation.

GAY LIBERATION will have a number of men and women from their group ready to talk about their movement.

JODY PALMOUR is a well-known Marxist scholar who will discuss Marx on the Jewish Problem.

COMING UP SOON WILL BE A J.U.J. SPONSORED DEBATE BETWEEN ARTHUR WASKOW AND RABBI MEIR KAHANE OF THE JEWISH DEFENSE LEAGUE.

WHAT IS JEWS FOR URBAN JUSTICE AND WHAT IS IT DOING?

J.U.J. is a group of Washington-area people who are actively involved in a struggle and resistance against a society which it now considers oppressive and unjust. We are involved in attempting to create a community of people who can work, live and struggle together. We are regularly involved in attempting to talk with other Jews, who have been turned-off to their heritage by an assimilationist Amerikan Jewish community, through workshops, speaking engagements and political actions. You're invited to come to any of our (alternate) Monday night meetings as well as our Friday evening communal dinners and Shabbats. Call our collective (387-0319) for further information.
