National Socialists Demonstrate for Vietnam Victory

Led by a large Stormtroop contingent under the direction of Commander Koehl, National Socialists on 3 October demonstrated in downtown Washington against Nixon's no-win Vietnam policy and for an immediate end to the war through military victory. They carried huge banners on poles which read "Nixon is a no-win swine," "Drop Nixon on Hanoi," "Smash the no-win System" and "Karl Marx was a racial Jew--Marxism is Jewish."

The National Socialists marched up the north side of Pennsylvania Avenue adjacent to a shuffling, integrated herd of well-meaning conservatives led by pro-Zionist Rev. Carl McIntire. Tens of thousands of persons watched the National Socialist demonstration, and thousands of "Smash the No-Win System" leaflets were handed out.

Capt William Kirstein was arrested for "felonious assault" after trying to help a fellow National Socialist being choked by an anti-NS policeman. Another National Socialist, James Vaughn, was arrested for "assault" after a Black cop deliberately gunned his motor scooter into him as he was crossing the street! Fortunately, Vaughn was not seriously hurt, although he was knocked to the pavement. Both comrades were released on a personal bond, and the Party is now preparing to fight both raps.

Capt Kirstein had earlier startled a gathering of McIntire's people on the steps of the Capitol when he lead a dozen Stormtroopers there and told them that it would take more than hymns and prayers and talk to smash Communism--that it would take nothing less than force. The NS foray attracted considerable local coverage.

Stormtroops March Through Downtown Los Angeles

It's happening all over again! Stormtroops under the command of Lt Joseph Tommasi on 3 October joined their East Coast counterparts in attacking Nixon's no-win policy. Starting at the Federal Building, they marched 15 blocks through the vilest non-White section of downtown Los Angeles, carrying Swastika banners and placards and defying threats from the Black Panthers, who never showed.

The Los Angeles National Socialists continue to be a bright inspiration for the Movement everywhere. The local White Power Message has gotten exceptional publicity in the press recently, and Mr. Tommasi has arranged a television interview on a local station to clarify various issues raised in the message. The L.A. WPM number is: (213) 443-9455.

New Headquarters Staff Members

In response to a special call at the recent Congress for Headquarters personnel, three individuals have volunteered their services to the Movement. They are:

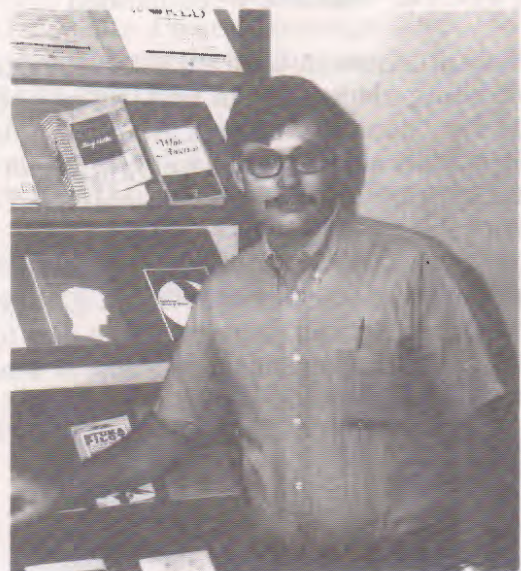

Richard Saunders, 35, a former marine biologist from St. Petersburg, Fla., active in conservation work, who will serve as Party business manager;

Daniel Dexter, 22, a graduate of Whittier College and Party activist from Los Angeles, who will work on the staff of White Power; and

Richard Biederman, 19 (SEE photo: NS Bulletin #70), an agricultural worker from Milaca, Minn., who will be in charge of introductory and special mailings.

With the addition of these new people to the National Headquarters staff, the Party will be able to expand considerably in the coming months.

Toronto NS Rally Well Received

John Beattie, National Socialist leader from London, Ont., was well received by a crowd of several hundred when he spoke for the first time since 1968 in Toronto's Allan Gardens on 20 September.

Mr. Beattie had not been able to get a permit to speak in the park since 1968 when he was fined $50 for "using abusive language" against Canada's Jewish citizens.

As of this time, the Fall Building Campaign is lagging below the goal set at the start of this drive. Although many members and supporters have come through--some of them in truly magnificent fashion--there are still those who have not responded.

To all those who have already done their part in this campaign, we want to express our thanks. We are especially grateful to the young National Socialist comrade from Indiana who sent in a $5 contribution with these words: "The money I send for the Party is what I save from my school lunch money by not eating any lunch at all, since I can't hold a steady job until I'm 16 and part-time jobs are few." This is the spirit that will win out against all odds; this is the spirit that will produce victory; this is the spirit that every National Socialist must have.

To reach our goal in this campaign, everyone must do his or her part. All that is asked of them is that they double one month's commitment by giving twice their normal dues or contribution for that month. If you have not already done your share, please act immediately. The success of this campaign depends on your response.

Ohio Organizer on Pittsburgh Radio

Northern Ohio Organizer Charles Lawrence appeared in a two-hour interview on radio station KVQ's "Pin-Point" program in Pittsburgh, Pa., on 27 September. The call-in program attracted widespread listenership and, not unexpectedly, Mr. Lawrence was subjected to a flood of hate calls from Jews and Negroes. When they couldn't answer his arguments, they resorted to threats and obscenities.

One particularly vile Jew made a very filthy remark that can't be repeated here. When Mr. Lawrence tried to expose this foul-mouthed creature, calling him a "kike" in the process, he was asked to leave the program for making a "racial slur."

From the Classroom

From schools around the country come reports of National Socialist initiative and activism. In some cases, students have given talks and circulated NS leaflets. In other instances, the teachers themselves have presented topics and materials for their students to consider. Here are some good examples:

I, along with the aid of a friend, have been putting up White Power and Free Rudolf Hess stickers around the halls at school. I also passed out "Back to Africa" tickets, which made quite a hit with the students. I have lent my copy of Lincoln Rockwell's White Power to a few friends. I vigorously defend National Socialism in all classroom debates and in my writings. I gave two armbands away to friends who had helped in putting up stickers. I am now in the process of trying to get my English teacher to allow the playing in class of Commander Rockwell's speech at Brown University.

(New York)

I am now teaching at a local public high school. After only a month, my students have a good, strong basic knowledge of the Jewish Question, which they have received from a careful historical and scholastic approach to NS Germany and Communism. Today I just completed giving them an objective presentation of NS Germany--which, if historically presented, can't help but be favorable. Naturally, all of them ate it up (to the last student)! And believe it or not, teacher response was so favorable that I was even able to give this same presentation to another class! In all I reached about 150 young adults. Wish all the comrades could have been there. It was really great!

(Iowa)

I took up two days in my Problems of American Government class. The first day I took up the whole period with a report on race and answered questions afterwards. A day later I gave a small talk answering charges made by my liberal teacher against our White Power newspaper. Teachers walking in the halls would come in and listen for awhile, in addition to the four or five teachers already in the class. Many students were interested in what I had to say and were angry when one teacher kept interrupting me. Some of them were for me and agreed with me. I think I will go on with my wonderful successes at school. I have two friends who a year ago were very hostile to National Socialism. Now they are sympathizers. I know of at least seven or eight people I've made into sympathizers.

WSA Fights Black Merger at Louisiana State

Sparked by activist Dave Duke, the White Students Alliance has launched a vigorous campaign to defeat plans to merge Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge with all-Black Southern University. The WSA has set up a literature table on campus and distributed thousands of pieces of literature to interested students. It has pointed out that the merger would force LSU students to commute to Southern, where they would then face threats to their personal safety.

Dave Duke has gotten extensive publicity by speaking regularly each week at an open-air campus forum called "Free Speech Alley." He has also had a special White Power Message installed which will be operated by the WSA in Baton Rouge and directed primarily to students and young people. The number of the recorded message unit is: (504) 348-0795.

In other LSU action, Duke was on hand when Vietnam-surrender creep Benjamin Spock came to the school on 30 September. He asked Spock whether he thought the United States should supply arms to Israel. Before the old Hebe could give a reply, another WSA activist shouted out: "Of course he does. He's Jewish!" The kosher phony was so flustered, he had to hem and haw around trying to make excuses for U.S. military aid to Israel. In the process, he thoroughly exposed himself before his student audience.

Persons interested in joining the White Students Alliance, should contact Dave Duke directly. His address is: Box 17006--Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70803. Annual membership dues in the WSA are $5.
