6th Annual Lambda Literary Awards Finalists Named

LESBIAN, GAY MEN'S BIOGRAPHIES DEMONSTRATE MAINSTREAM APPEAL

Washington, DC; March 1, 1994—Many gay men and lesbians find themselves alienated and shunned by the society into which they are born. Yet 1993 saw a torrent of lesbian and gay biographies and autobiographies that captured the attention of the literary establishment, and which makes the Lambda Literary Award Gay and Lesbian Biography/Autobiography categories among this year's strongest.

Whether it's Jean Genet imprisoned in pre-war France, or Marguerite Yourcenar retreating to rustic Maine, Reynaldo Arenas hiding in Castro's Cuba, or Lillian Smith fighting racial inequity in rural Georgia, Lars Eighner living on the streets in contemporary Austin, Texas or Jewelle Gomez growing up in segregated Boston, the stories of their lives are resonating with readers—both straight and gay. Edmund White's Genet, for instance, has already received the prestigious National Book Critics Circle Award for biography. Other finalists for the Lambda Literary Awards—including Before Night Falls by Reynaldo Arenas, Marguerite Yourcenar, by Josyane Savigneau, and Travels with Lizbeth, by Lars Eighner—received front page Sunday New York Times Book Review notices. The other gay men's biography/autobiography nominees are City Poet, by Brad Gooch and James Broughton's Coming Unbuttoned. The other Lesbian Biography/Autobiography finalists are Forty-Three Septembers by Jewelle Gomez, How Am I to be Heard: Letters of Lillian Smith, ed. by Rose Gladney, Mary Renault, by David Sweetman, and Family Values by Phyllis Burke.

It is, of course, the merit of these authors that accounts for their recognition. Yet the Lambda Literary Awards, held on the eve of the American Booksellers Association's annual convention, have helped create a climate in which it has become difficult for that merit to be ignored. Finalists Edmund White and Jewelle Gomez were speakers at the first Lambda Literary Awards banquet in 1989, and among the first year's Lammy winners were Dorothy Allison and Paul Monette, whose National Book Awards last year marked the full acceptance of gay and lesbian literary writers by the literary establishment.

"We are very pleased by the role the Lammys have played in bringing gay and lesbian literature to wide-spread public attention," said L. Page "Deacon" Maccubbin, publisher of the Lambda Book Report, which sponsors the Lambda Literary Awards. In addition to Edmund White's Genet, Mark Doty's My Alexandria also won the National Book Critics Circle award for Poetry. And Tony Kushner's Angels in America: Millennium Ap-

Paul Monette Returns to Lambda Rising Monday, May 23

Monday, May 23rd from 6 until 8 p.m., National Book Award winner Paul Monette visits Lambda Rising/DC to read from and sign his new book, Last Watch of the Night (Harcourt Brace.) This is a collection of ten essays from a foremost gay activist about the meaning of mortal things, of what endures in the heart, challenging the spirit, "even as time grows short." Monette gives us a portrait of his dog, an appreciation of priests, a lifetime of travel, the March on Washington, the medical establishment, his illness, and essays from his life.

Mail order customers can order autographed copies from our upcoming signings. Your order must be placed at least 24 hours before the signing. Please call 1-800-621-6969 to place an order. ☺

Twenty Years of Quality Service

Lambda Rising Divisions Work to Bring You
The Latest in Gay and Lesbian Publishing

For the past twenty years, Lambda Rising has worked to bring the best quality service and the largest in-stock inventory of gay and lesbian literature, music, films, and gifts to the gay community. Starting in 1974 with one store in Washington, DC, Lambda Rising has now grown to three retail stores: our main location in Washington, plus stores in Baltimore, Maryland and Rehoboth Beach, Delaware. In addition to our stores, Lambda Rising has continued to grow through our mail order division and the Lambda Rising News. With a circulation of well over 500,000 quarterly catalogs, Lambda Rising News is now the largest gay and lesbian periodical in the country. In addition to our in-house mailing list, Lambda Rising News is distributed in over 35 gay and lesbian news publications around the country.

But our size and circulation doesn't detract from our mission of serving our customers quickly and efficiently, and of offering the latest publications and gifts of interest to the gay and lesbian reader. Our stores stock virtually every gay and lesbian title in stock. The titles listed in Lambda Rising News are only a small selection of titles available (we spotlight new releases in our catalog to give you the latest information available on what's being published.) If there is a title you are interested in but do not see listed in our catalog, please call or write, and we will check if the title is available in our warehouse. If you are looking for a book we do not have in stock, we will be happy to order it for you and ship it to you when it comes in from our suppliers.

We don't stop at books that are in print, though. Lambda Rising also carries an extensive collection of used and rare books no longer in print. Just because your favorite title has gone out of print, don't give up yet! Let us search our warehouse for you and see if we have the title. If not, we will be happy to hold a request for you, and call you when the title comes in.

And if you have used books (they must have gay and lesbian content!) that you would like to sell, please send us a list of titles, whether hardcover or paperback, and the cover price (if you know it) to Julie Bremer, our used and rare book buyer. Julie will get back to you with a price for your books, and on your approval, send you payment.

But books are only the beginning of the story. We also stay abreast of what's happening in gay and lesbian music and keep an extensive selection of titles in both CD and Cassette. We also keep the latest video releases in stock of interest to the gay and lesbian community. But if there is a specific title you are interested in, please call us first. We probably already have it in stock!

Lambda Rising also offers services for other retailers and proaches, a Drama finalist, has already won the Pulitzer Prize.

As in past years, fiction proved a strong category, with Lesbian Fiction finalist Stone Butch Blues, by Leslie Feinberg, also appearing in the Small Press category. The lesbian fiction finalists again raise the question of what is a lesbian book. Members of this year's Lambda Literary Award finalist committee expressed support for—and objections to—Jeanette Winterson's Written on the Body. Some thought that the ambiguity of the narrator's gender disqualified the book from being considered a lesbian novel; others said that the book only makes sense if the narrator is a woman, and the novel's central relationship thus a lesbian one. The other Lesbian Fiction finalists are Sea of Light, by Jennifer Levin, Women on Women 2, edited by Joan Nestle and Naomi Holoch, and Home Movies, by Paula Martinac.

Among the trends noted this year was a decreasing number of gay male genre titles, particularly in Science Fiction/Fantasy; lesbian genre titles, on the other hand, continue to be produced in significant numbers. The Lambda Literary categories have also been adjusted this year to reflect changes within the gay and lesbian publishing world. The increasing publication of lesbian and gay plays has led to the creation of a Drama category. Also, this year, more categories combine lesbian and gay male writing: Anthologies, Children/Young Adult, Drama, Humor, Science Fiction/Fantasy and Small Press.

Mainstream and university presses remain a strong presence in this year's list, with Penguin USA having a total of 12 nominees in ten categories. They were followed by St. Martin's Press, with 7 nominees. There also continued to be a strong presence from lesbian and gay small presses, with Alyson Press having six finalists and Firebrand Press having five. The trend for the gay men's fiction categories to be dominated by the mainstream presses was bucked by Alyson, whose Fragments That Remain, by Steven Corbin, was a finalist. Eyes of Desire, another Alyson title, was also a finalist in two categories (Anthology and Small Press) while Michael Willhoite was nominated for two titles he published with Alyson, Uncle What-is-it Is Coming to Visit!! (Children/YA) and Members of the Tribe (Humor).

The Lambda Literary Awards have a three tier selection process. A list of nominees is assembled from ballots sent in by readers; this year, nearly 400,000 ballots were distributed nationwide. The over 300 books nominated were narrowed down to five finalists in each category by a finalist committee that included gay and lesbian book professionals, members of the lesbian and gay press and the staff of the Lambda Book Report. Eighty six judges, representing a broad cross-section of the entire lesbian and gay literary community, will select a single book in each category from among the finalists. This year, for the first time, there will be gender parity in the judges' panels for all combined lesbian and gay categories.

Award recipients will be announced at a gala banquet in Los Angeles on Friday, May 27, 1994, during the American Booksellers Association Convention at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles.

For further information about the awards program or banquet tickets, please contact LAMBDA BOOK REPORT, 1625 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Washington, DC, 20009-1013 or Phone the LAMMYS LINE at (202) 462-7924.

But everything we do here at Lambda Rising isn't just sales through our stores and catalogs. Our company also publishes Lambda Book Report, a bi-monthly review of contemporary gay and lesbian literature. USA Today has called Lambda Book Report "a genuine delight for every book lover." Each issue of the magazine is filled with reviews of the latest gay and lesbian books, written by some of the best names in gay and lesbian literature today. And every newly-released gay and lesbian book is reviewed in every issue, so reading Lambda Book Report is your guaranteed way of keeping up with the fast-changing world of gay publishing today. In addition to book reviews, Lambda Book Report offers behind-the-scenes looks at the publishing industry in the "Check It Out" column, and offers listings of publications seeking submissions in the "Author's Queries" column. You can order a subscription to Lambda Book Report with your order from this catalog by checking the appropriate box on the order form (more information on Lambda Book Report is on page 17 of this catalog.)

And if your company is interested in advertising in either Lambda Book Report or in the Lambda Rising News, you can be sure that your advertising will be reaching the widest possible market of gay and lesbian readers. For more information on advertising with either Lambda Book Report or with Lambda Rising News, please contact our managing editor, Leslie Smith, for rate cards and advertising information.

With all our many divisions and areas of operations, Lambda Rising has come quite a long way in this short twenty years. But at the center of all our growth is you, our loyal customers. We are always working to improve our service to you, and if there is any way we can improve our service in any of our operations, please do not hesitate to write us with your suggestions. As gay and lesbian publishing continues to grow in this country, we want to bring you the latest information on new titles as quickly as possible.

HAREM WISH

Jan Carr
Sari is a young Arabian girl, a dancer in a harem. Her bewitching tale of illicit passion for one of her master's concubines, imprisonment, and escape vividly evokes both the beauty and the brutality of the ancient world. Woven into Sari's story is a modern day narrative of love between women in New York City, about Codie as she pieces together a disastrous love affair. Her dreams mirror Sari's in eerily suggestive ways.

THE RIDDLE OF
"MAN-MANLY" LOVE
THE PIONEERING WORK ON MALE HOMOSEXUALITY
Karl Heinrich Ulrichs

The first-ever English translation of an influential German classic work, from a man who was boldly defending the rights of lesbians and gay men a century before Stonewall. Written between 1864 and 1880, this volume surveys mythological, literary, historical, physiological, and other data. Ulrichs contended that homosexuality in men was due to the fact that some males are born with a strong feminine element and he believed that the strict line between differentiation of men and women had been overemphasized. This is a two volume, 800 page set. (The books are not available separately.)

CLOSET WRITING/GAY READING
THE CASE OF MELVILLE'S
PIERRE
James Creech

Creech sets out to analyze what he considers the exemplary novel of the 19th century closet: Melville's Pierre; or, The Ambiguities. By approaching Pierre as a gay man, Creech argues that the novel's encrypted erotics to reveal that this tale of incest is actually a homosexual novel in disguise.

CREATED EQUAL
WHY GAY RIGHTS MATTER TO AMERICA
Michael Nava, Robert Dawidoff

The authors argue that the movement for gay equality is central to the continuing defense of individual liberty. Beginning with an examination of the determined assault on gay issues by the religious right, the authors show how this sectarian movement to legislate private religious morality into the laws of the state undermines the foundations of republic and assaults the purpose of American constitutional government: the protection of the individual's right to determine how best to live their lives.

Poetry

AMERICAN DREAMS

Sapphire

Through a series of prose and poetry works, she addresses issues of family violence, urban decay, spiritual renewal, the "wilding" incident in Central Park as seen through the eyes of the perpetrators, incest, the Latasha Harlan murder in L.A., and other areas of African American life today. Her work transcends these harsh realities and finds hope and inspiration as guiding principles.

DYKE HANDS AND SUTRAS EROTIC AND LYRIC

SDiane A. Bogus

"This collection of work will offend some because it walks the line between crude and refined, reverence and disrespect, between the secular and the spiritual, sexual repression and sexual expression, but it is that very line that lesbians walk everyday of their lives. It is hoped that the poems and essays here will incite a fresh sense of conviction, possibility, and courage where it seemed the oppression has always been imposed by others." — from the introduction.
